BIOGRAPHY

Lucia Cipponeri Pichel is a lawyer with diverse experience in the legal field. She obtained her Law and Political Science degree from Universidad Santa María la Antigua in 2020, graduating Magna Cum Laude.

She trained professionally as a legal intern in litigation, administrative law, public procurement, and corporate transactions, including mergers and acquisitions. This allowed her to develop a strong foundation across different areas of law and gain a practical perspective on legal practice.

Between 2022 and 2024, she served as an Attaché at the Permanent Mission of Panama to the Organization of American States in Washington, D.C., representing the Panamanian State before countries in the region. In this role, she participated in multilateral forums and followed up on relevant legal and institutional matters, among others.

In 2025, she earned a Master of Laws (LL.M.) with a specialization in International Commercial Law from IE University in Madrid, Spain.
